McGrail Returned To East; Frulla Gets Assistant Post

By John P. Sawyer

East Junior High School Principal Eugene Frulla will be given a special projects assignment as manager of computer student services K-12, and in addition, will be assigned as assistant principal at the West Elementary School next year.

Frulla's transfer, effective July 1, will make way for Dr. Richard McGrail to return to his position as principal of the East Junior High. He has been on leave of absence from that position while serving as the school building project coordinator.

Frulla will spend about 85 percent of his time as the assistant principal, according to Schools Superintendent Kenneth Seifert, and the rest as computer manager. Frulla's transfer did not require school committee approval.

Only Schoolman Susan Poore objected to the matter, maintaining the two positions Frulla will take over are both full-time jobs, not part-time. She also questioned Frulla's qualifications in the computer field.

Chairman Richard Neal explained that all school adminstrators have had special projects as part of their jobs.

In other personnel matters, 10 tenured teachers — laid off during the budget cutting process — were placed on involuntary leaves of absence effective September 1982 for a recall period extending until the first day of school in September 1985, as so provided in the collective bargaining agreement. Termination of their employment becomes effective if they are not recalled before the September 1985 date.

The eight elementary teachers and two media specialists are: Carol Buchanan, Julie Cofield, Mary Jane Divino, Susan Infantine, Audrey Kenney, Ann Maida, Dolores Pelc, Joyce Powers, Barbara Smith and Michael Zimmerman.

The school committee accepted the resignation of Jacqueline Randazza, an Andover teacher for 15 years, currently assigned at the Bancroft School. She has been employed in Andover since September 1967 and has been on personal leave of absence during this 1981-82 school year.

Janis Baron was appointed coordinator of the gifted and talented program at $5,104 per year, effective September 1. Peter Anderson was given first re-election as language arts program advisor at $28,222 per year, effective July 1.

Poore opposed the language arts program advisor position.

The following were appointed to federally funded positions for the 1982-83 school year (The appointments aredependent upon the receipt and continuation of federal funds):

TITLE I (Special Needs): Anne Doran, school adjustment counselor, one-half time, $8,678 plus $450 differential (Master's — Step 4); Ilene Spiro, school adjustment counselor, $17,995 plus $900 differential (Master's — Step 5).

TITLE VI (Special Needs Services): Ruth Trepanier, teacher of the perceptually handicapped self contained class, $17,672 plus $700 differential (Bachelor's — Step 8); Frances McConnell, teacher of moderate special needsstudents, $17,995 plus $700 differential(Master's — Step 5); Eleanor Merz, school adjustment counselor, $23,463 plus $900 differential (Master's — Step 12); Judith Palmer, school adjustment counselor, $20,177 plus $900 differential (Master's — Step 8); Mary Aram, teacher/tutor of learning disabilities students (.8 time), $20,939 (Master's plus 30-max).

Also: Donna Perlowski, teacher/tutor of learning disabilities students, $18,077 (Bachelor's plus 30-St. 7); Debra DeCosta, speech specialist (.6 time),$9,184 (Bachelor's — Step 4); Gerald Schimmel, teacher of the moderate special needs students, $16,492 plus $700 differential (Bachelor's — Step 6); Virginia Greeley, early childhood teacher (.5 time), $8,998 plus $350 differential (Master's — Step 5); Anne Doran, school adjustment counselor (.5 time), $8,678 plus $450 differential (Master's — Step 4); Elizabeth O'Connor, special needs instructional aide, 35 hours per week, $5.72 per hour plus $350 differential.

The school committee accepted the following recommendations for salaries effective July 1 for positions not covered by a collective bargaining agreement: Kenneth

Lowell St. House Is On Market

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A burned-out Lowell Street home whose ownership has been in dispute and that has become an eyesore during the past eight years is now up for sale, the Community Development and Planning director said yesterday.

And if there are no buyers, a Board of Health decision could see the house razed a year from now.

The 278 Lowell St. home once owned by Richard and Sharon Stempel was gutted by a fire and abandoned in 1974. Neither the Stempels, who have divorced, nor their insurance company, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company, claimed ownership of or responsibility for the property since then.

However, Lumbermens recently won a judgment against the Stempels, giving the

Selectmen Approve Summer Events

The Board of Selectmen gave their blessing to several summer activities — assuming that summer will get here eventually — during a regular meeting at Town Hall Monday night.

The board granted one-day all-alcoholic licenses to the Christian Formation Center on River Road for four wedding receptions: 3 to 9 p.m. July 10; 1 to 7 p.m. July 17; 1 to 8 p.m. July 24; and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. July 31.

They also approved plans for a block party from noon to 8 p.m. on Aug. 21, with a rain date of Aug. 22, off Cross Street between River Road and Monahan Lane.

And the board okayed the Center Merchants' plans for a road race at 10 a.m. June 26, as part of the annual Bazaar Days. There will be two routes, one three miles and one five miles.

Auctioneer, Auto Licenses Granted

A Malden auctioneer has joined the ranks of auctioneers licensed to hold auctions in Andover, and an Andover man has received permission to run a second-hand auto dealership in town.

The selectmen Monday night granted a one-day auctioneer's license to Bernard S. Kaufman of Malden to auction rugs from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 19, at the Sheraton Rolling-Green.

The board also granted a Class II license to buy, sell, exchange or assemble second-hand motor vehicles or parts to Frank E. Morrisse of Andover Auto, located off Dale Street. Atty. Carl Berger, representing Morrisse, said Morrisse would be reviving a business that his son, Mark Morrisse, ran until January, 1980.

Utility Permits Get OK

Mass. Electric and Bay State Gas got the selectmen's approval for some excavation this week. And, acting as sewer commissioners, the selectmen also approved several new sewer connections.

The electric company will install a line of underground conduits under and across Canterbury Street to service homes in the new Andover Country Club subdivision, now under construction.

The gas company will excavate at 19 Shipman Road and 22 William Street to retire gas service.

And, with the selectmen's permission, new sewer connections will be made to lots 2-14 Pole Hill Drive, Lot 2 David Drive, Lot 20 Barbara Lane, Lot 19 Germano Way, and at two sites on Gillette Way. The Board of Health recommended approval of those connections Monday night.

Plans For Fourth Moving Along Well

Plans for an Old-Fashioned Fourth of July are moving full steam ahead as the holiday approaches.

Monday night, the selectmen granted the holiday planning committee permission to hold an "Antique and Horribles" parade starting at 12:30 p.m. at Central Park, and proceeding down Punchard Avenue to Main Street, to Park Street, to the municipal parking lot at Town Hall, to Bartlet Street and back to the park.

The board also granted the planners permission to use Central Park all day on the Fourth for the holiday activities (all events will be moved to Monday, July 5, in case of rain.)

Committee Chairman Peter Anderson said he is still seeking two selectmen to volunteer for the dunk tank, which promises to be a popular event. Town Manager Kenneth Mahony, School Supt. Kenneth Seifert, School Committee Chairman Richard Neal and Schoolman Michael Giammusso have already volunteered as targets, Anderson said.

Other events of the day will include a 7 a.m. community pancake breakfast at St. Augustine's School, and a band concert from 4 to 5:30 at the park. Detailed information on the scheduled events, and the historic inspiration behind them, appears elsewhere in this issue of the TOWNSMAN.

Pomps Pond To Open

The Pomps Pond recreation area will open Saturday, June 19. Barring any unforseen problems, the Department of Community Services is looking forward to a busy season. The area provides local residents with diverse leisure opportunities, offering swimming instruction, recreational swimming, canoeing, picnicking, children's playground area and a spacious beach for sunbathing. Parking is available for 75 cars directly by the pond. The bathhouse has a concession stand, rest rooms, showering facilities, changing area and lockers that can be rented for a nominal fee.

Canoes can be rented by individuals 12 years and older who can pass a swim test administered by lifeguards on duty.

Registration for all Pomps Pond swimming lessons begins Monday, June 21, from 10 a.m. to til June 25. Lessons be-

Y Offers College Study Plan

A "How to Study in College" course is being sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Y.M.C.A.

The average true cost of a four-year college degree is $60,000, according to Prof. Robert Schwarz of Purdue University who created the "How to Study in College" course which has been offered nation-wide to more than 50,000 college-bound students.

That figure includes the cost of college attendance plus the income a student gives up for four years while attending college.

The four-night course will be offered July 26-29 at the Merrimack College Library Auditorium.

The "How to Study in College" course, which has received national acclaim through numerous publications (e.g., Christian Science Monitor, Associated Press, Scouting Magazine), is considered a means of guaranteeing a smoother adjustment to the difficult first year of college. "College is not an extension of high school," Schwarz indicated. "Students must realize that new techniques are required to digest the tremendous amount of material that is 'thrown' at them in those first few weeks."

For more information, contact Cathy Dawson, program director at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Newsletter Features Hospital

Lawrence General Hospital, Lawrence, is featured in the spring issue of the Massachusetts Society of Anesthesiologists Newsletter.

The article notes that "with the exception of open-heart surgery and organ transplantation, all types of surgery are performed. To a certain extent the hospital acts as a referral center since several surgeons who work throughout the Merrimack Valley tend to bring a portion of their cases from elsewhere to Lawrence. This is particularly so in the case of neurosurgery."

The article points out that "In 1981 6,545 operations requiring anesthesia were performed of which 2,245 were processed through the Surgical Day Car Unit. As in most hospitals, the use of Day Care facility has had an explosive growth in the last four years, which has often been accelerated by the high occupancy of in-patient beds."

Neville Rosen, M.D., of Andover, is director of the department. Other members of the department are Robert Lennon, M.D., of Andover, Philip Seymour, M.D., of North Andover, and Keith B. Shoaps, M.D., of Boxford. Rick Coram of Dracut is the anesthesia technician. The anesthesia nurses are Mina O'Brien of Andover, Cecile Baranowski of Fremont, N.H., Gerard Beaudoin of Nashua, N.H., Lynn Leone of Andover, Jeannie Sweeney of Wilmington, and Mary Battles of Andover.

The "Star Spangled Banner," although written in 1814, did not become the national anthem until 1931.

Beyond The Call Of Duty

Tufts Honors Callahan

Sean Callahan of Andover, a 1982 graduate of Tufts University, was presented with a Tufts Service Citation by the Tufts University Alumni Association at its annual meeting May 29. Callahan was honored for his participation in a Tufts-sponsored cross-country bike trek as a volunteer fundraiser for the Jimmy Fund in the summer of 1981.

The award, which recognizes "a significant and valuable service to Tufts University or to some segment of the Tufts community" and which "represents a contribution in time, resources and support on the part of the recipient beyond that required or expected," was one of many honors received by the recent Tufts graduate for his part in the 8,500-mile journey for charity. When Callahan and his partner/roommate Chuck Rosenberg arrived in Boston last August to complete their trip, the day was declared "Jimmy Fund Day" by Mayor Kevin White; the pair was later feted by the Somerville Kiwanians and by the Boston Red Sox at their "Jimmy Fund Night." The Jimmy Fund, a project of the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute in Boston, is involved in raising money for the care of children with cancer.

Callahan, 22, received a certificate and a lapel pin commemorating his courageous effort.

Honors

Scott G. Nason of 213 Andover St., Andover, has been named to the president's list for consistently high academic achievement during the spring semester at Fitchburg State College, Fitchburg. Nason is majoring in communications.

Warrior Band Going To Camp

The Andover High School Golden Warrior Marching Band will be off again, this time to Camp Nokomis on Bear Island, Lake Winnepesaukee, for a four-day period beginning Aug. 26-29. The band director has a heavy schedule planned for them in which they will learn their new show for next season while achieving it in a fun environment. The band will spend long hours of practice at camp and hope to bring the band into the fall season with a spirit to "make it happen"

On Dean's List

Named to the Dean's List at Bradford College, Bradford, for the spring semester from Andover were: Amanda Haddad, freshman, high honors; Sandra Swain, junior, honors; and Dorothy Mann, senior, high honors. From North Andover: Deanna Yameen, honors.

Artists Seek Building For Center

A local group who propose to start a center where artists and craftspeople can rent space to work, exhibit or teach are looking for a building.

Margo Porter, chairman of the committee for establishing the Merrimack Valley Arts Center, said a core group of artists have decided to focus their search to within easy driving distance of Andover. They will consider old school buildings, barns, mills or other industrial or commercial properties. The size of the facility is still open to question, Mrs. Porter said, because the group has not yet done a thorough study of the numbers of local artist and craftspeople who would be interested in common workspace.

After two public interest meetings, the group has narrowed the focus of the arts center; interest is strongest for a work, exhibit and teaching center which would serve as a clearing house and center for Merrimack Valley artists.

There is some interest, also, in including a performing arts component to the center, Mrs. Porter said.

Another meeting is planned for Wednesday, July 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover branch of the Lawrence Savings Bank.

Interested parties are encouraged to call Mrs Porter, Evergreen Lane.

Dousing The Bunsen Burner For Landscaping

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Arthur Danforth

When Arthur Danforth looks back on his career as an Andover High School teacher, he has more to see than the average teacher. Because as his career has progressed, his department has grown right along with him.

He started out as the only science teacher at Punchard High School. More than 32 years have passed. Punchard High School is no more, and even its successor has become a junior high school (West Junior High).

New science classrooms and laboratories are being added to the latest AHS. And Arthur Danforth is the senior member and former head of a science department staffed by 12 teachers.

"Everything that we have developed in the science program in Andover, I developed," he says with quiet pride. "It has been rewarding."

But this year, the last day of school will be the last day of his high school teaching career. He will not be back in the fall.

"I think that you reach a point where doing something different would be stimulating," Danforth says of his coming retirement. "And besides," he adds with a slight smile, "I'm 60 years old. Maybe kids today need someone a little younger."

He speaks softly and in a stately way, his face composed, his smile a quiet one — but with an occasional twinkle in his eye. As he sits in his office after school, an almost steady stream of students drop in with questions and requests. He is unhurried and patient with them all.

He hadn't always planned to be a teacher, he explains: World War II changed his mind. Born and raised in Manchester, N.H., he spent one year at the University of New Hampshire before serving a three-year stint with the U.S. Navy.

He never went overseas, but defended San Francisco, he jokes, as part of the Hospital Corps in Oakland, California — where he lost his desire to become a pre-med student. "My interest in medicine sort of got turned off in the Hospital Corps."

But his childhood love of science endured. Danforth says. As a boy, he invented his own experiments. Down in his basement, he used the gas connections left over from the days before electricity and his dentist father's old dental equipment to make his own Bunsen burners. He laughs at the memory.

"I really didn't know what I wanted to do after the war," he says. But he came from a family that believed in education — his mother was a teacher. "So I thought I'd try teaching. It was a very wise choice.

"The financial rewards are very small. But I have to say that not once in 32 years have I ever minded getting up in the morning and going to work. In teaching, every day's a challenge -- the subjects, the kids, new ideas. It's been a very rewarding career for me."

He graduated from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, studied advanced chemistry at Yale and Tufts University, and taught in Derry, N.H. for two years before joining the Punchard staff.

Andover gave Danforth more than a lifelong career -- it also gave him his wife of 37 years, the former Jeanne Bernadin, who was teaching business courses at Punchard when they met. (Except for time out to raise three children, Mrs. Danforth also continued teaching at Andover High for many years; she retired two years ago.)

He has taught some biology and physics courses (and math one year, filling in for another teacher), but mainly he has taught his favorite subject: chemistry. The boy who fashioned his own Bunsen burners still lives.

"I enjoy the demonstrations I do in class — I often get a bigger kick out of them than the kids do. I enjoy working with the materials, catalyzing a reaction — anything of a histrionic nature, something that'll flare up or go bang."

To him, teaching's greatest reward is the moment when learning happens in his classroom. "I love it when I'm trying to get across some difficult material, and the kids are finding it hard — but finding it interesting — and suddenly understand it."

Danforth credits his "scientific attitude" with seeing him through many changes since he stood before his first Punchard High class. "Times change. You have to go with it. I've always prided myself on being flexible and open-minded — that's the scientific attitude."

He's found it rather startling to teach children whose parents were his students years before. "That's what really made me think it was time to retire. Thirty years doesn't sound like that long, but a lot of water's gone over the dam."

He looks back fondly on the first years when the high school was located in the current West Junior High, when he and the late Paul Hopkins were the only science teachers. His colleague, Danforth remembers, called those years "our golden years of education."

"We had a few kids who were particularly interested in science," he explains, "and they used to come into the lab in the afternoon after school and just fool around all afternoon, just doing science for fun. We really enjoyed those kids who were so very interested in science."

Today, he says sadly, "there are so many other distractions, like sports, that kids have no time for that."

There have been other changes as well. "We're not as strict as we used to be. I don't know if that's good or bad." He remembers when teachers became apoplectic if a student "went to a locker at the wrong time. Today," he shrugs, "it's no big deal." (Still, he believes that "a little strict discipline was character-building.")

He has been glad to watch the science curriculum grow beyond its basic biology-chemistry-physics and into new areas like marine science — "one of the really good innovations."

Science courses have never been required at the high school, he says; they have always been elective. Yet "historically" more than 80 percent of the high school students have chosen to take science courses through the years, he adds.

He is unhappy that a tight school budget will see the science staff cut back to 10 and one-half teachers next year, even as science continues to gain popularity among students.

For at least the next year, the teacher plans to indulge himself as "a putterer." He will leave his High Street home for a new home in York Beach, Maine, where he will "do my own thing — building, landscaping, working on my boat, fishing. I have a lot of projects I don't have time to do now. I'm looking forward to it."

But he admits to "getting cold feet" at the thought of really leaving. "I'm afraid I'm going to miss it."

He knows he'll miss his friends on the faculty, Danforth says. "Teachers are always reading, so they always have something to say about most any topic. They're intellectually stimulating people to talk to. I'll miss that."

And, he adds, "I will miss the kids."

Arthur Danforth has a back-up plan, just in case a year of puttering turns out to be enough for him. He says he'll try to find a part-time job, perhaps at a college — teaching.

Headmaster David A. Frothingham presided at Pike's traditional graduation ceremonies on Monday, June 14, on the Pike campus. Diplomas were awarded to 16 ninth graders and 31 eighth graders of the Class of 1982 in the afternoon festivities in the Andrews Auditorium. While 47 graduates are leaving Pike, 20 present eighth graders have elected to remain for the ninth grade.

Trustee chairman, Susan W. Field, and fellow trustee, David T. Riddiford, were on hand to greet each graduate presented to them by Alice Jablonski, head of the Upper School. Why Sue Tucker Should Be Your State Representative.

Consider her experience.

In Andover. Sue contributed to Andover's balanced growth and stable tax base through eight years on the Development and Industrial Commission, Financing Authority, and Central Business District Committee. She was President of the Andover League of Women Voters and taught in the Andover secondary schools.

Sue wants to share her perspective with you. Please call Peggy Keck 475-0704 or Rachael Garcia 475-3101 for the time and place of a neighborhood meeting near you.

Contrary to popular belief, reducing tire pressure below recommended levels does not increase tire traction in snow, Triple-A says. It only contributes to steering difficulties, wastes gas and causes uneven tire wear. The best advice, the club says, is to mount quality snow tires and apply reinforced tire chains for particularly slippery conditions.

In ancient times the resins of myrrh and frankincense from various trees were burned for incense. The word perfume comes from the Latin per fumum, meaning "through smoke," according to Massacusetts Audubon.

Rev. Richard L. Foley, OSA

Assigned To Parish In Lawrence

Rev. Richard L. Foley, OSA, associate pastor at St. Augustine's Church for the past six years, will be transferred to Holy Rosary Parish, Lawrence, Aug. 16.

A reception is planned for July 25 at St. Augustine's after which Father Richard will leave for vacation and a pilgrimage to the Holy Land before reporting to his new assignment.

Musical Presented At Parish

The exhilarating sound of the Broadway musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," filled the fellowship hall of West Parish Church recently following a church Pot Luck Supper.

Amy Cooper took the part of Joseph, the favored son of Jacob who aroused the jealousy of his brothers. Sarah Perry played the Pharoah of Egypt who was haunted by dreams that only Joseph could interpret. Ellen Perry was the Narrator. The brothers were Jennifer Schroeder, Sheryl Manies, Elizabeth Marshall, Amy Witman, Emily Kear, Krista Nickerson, Steven Bertetti, Amanda Gulezian, Craig DerAnanian and Jennifer Amirto. The Ismalites were played by Ricky Bertetti, Mark Puglia and Gary Rollins.

Helen Payette, a graduate student at the University of Lowell, directed the production. The choir, which is only 2½ years old, has produced a musical version of "Scrooge," written by Miss Payette, and two other major works.

Miss Payette has had to resign as junior choir director because of the pressure of her graduate studies. Applications for the position are being accepted by the music committee, under the leadership of Doris Newton. Contact the West Parish Church office.

Talent Bank Gives Town Boards New Members

Andover's boards, commissions and committees will be sporting a number of new faces this spring: The selectmen this week approved the town manager's recommendations for a long list of new appointments, as well as reappointments.

Chairman Norma Gammon Monday night noted that Town Manager Kenneth Mahony has been working diligently on the appointments for weeks, drawing on the town's "talent bank" for new committee members.

The nightly plea during town meetings for interested citizens to submit applications to the talent bank has apparently paid off, Gammon said. The manager indicated that 19 of the new appointments came from the talent bank.

The new appointments and reappointments were approved as follows:

On the Conservation Commission, Chairman Robert Pustell was reappointed, with a term expiring in June 1985. Lawrence Sullivan was appointed, with a term expiring in June 1983, to fill a vacancy left by Ellen Marcus.

On the Planning Board, two new members will fill vacancies left by two retiring planners. George "Russ" Moran will replace Chairman David Gravallese, and Paul Curley will replace John Tomlinson. Moran's term will expire next June; Curley's, in June 1987.

Steven Flashenberg will replace Moran as Andover's representative on the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission, serving an open-ended term.

And Tomlinson will move over to the new Building Maintenance Advisory Committee, serving a one-year term, along with Arthur Peatman, Arnold Heller, Michele Sappupo and Stuart Krentcil.

Five members were reappointed to the Council on Aging: Florence McGrath, Isabella Hurst, Ann Maitland, Elsie Mowat (all terms expiring next June) and Richard Chapell (term expiring June 1985).

Pamela Mitchell and Robert Merrill were reappointed to the Community Watch Committee, with terms expiring in June 1985.

Dennis St. John was reappointed to a three-year term on the Design Advisory Committee.

Gary Cornell was appointed to the Community Services Committee to fill a three-year vacancy left by Douglas Mitchell, and Paul Clinton was appointed to the three-year vacancy left by Joyce Andrews. Members Kenneth DeBenedictis (chairman) and Joan Rosenblatt were reappointed, the chairman for two years and Rosenblatt for three.

Five members of the Development and Industrial Committee were reappointed, all to five-year terms: Chairman Lawrence Spiegel, Dorothy Sherrerd, Thomas Swift, George Fantini, and George Ziady. Nicholas Flint was named to a four-year term to fill a vacancy; Robert Finlayson, S. Joseph Hoffman and Susan Tucker will leave the committee.

Susan Dennett was named to a one-year term on the Reuse Committee to replace Philip Allen, and Mary Bartow, to a one-year term to replace Archibald Maclaren.

Individual reappointments: Dr. Douglas Dunbar to the Board of Health (three years); Ruth Wescott as a Towle Fund Trustee (three years); John McCoy to the Board of Assessors (three years); John S. Lewis as Veterans Service Agent (one year); James F. Johnson as Keeper of Lockup (one year); James L. Bamford as Local Supt. of Insect Pest Control (one year); and Richard Lindsay as Inspector of Animals (one year).

Philip K. Allen was named an emeritus member of the Historical Commission, while Robert Lloyd was named to the three-year vacancy left by Sandra Thorpe. John Lewis and Warren Patterson were reappointed to three-year terms on the commission.

Joseph Glasser was reappointed a Memorial Hall Library Trustee, and Maria Rizzo was named a new trustee, while Donald McNemar was named to the vacancy left by Richard MacGowan. All will serve three-year terms.

Five new members were appointed to one-year terms on the Traffic and Safety Advisory Committee: John Kalil, David Nicoll, Jean Leuner, Robert Burke and Richard Lobao.

New appointments to the Spring Grove Cemetery Trustees were Paul Cronin (three years), Rebecca Backman (two years) and Lawrence Hesenius (one year). Reappointed were Leo Daley (three years), Gilbert Cromie (two years), Charles Bergeron and Irving Whitcomb (both one year).

Mahony has also created a new committee, with the selectmen's approval, to help Andover win the All-American City award. That national award, based on citizen participation in community affairs, is not only one the manager has long "coveted," he said Monday, but could probably help boost the town's bond rating to a Triple A as well.

Appointed to one-year terms on that new committee were Susan Poore, Patti Spiegel, Richard Bowen, Daniel Casper, Kurt Reming, John Sibley and Beverly Darling.

The selectmen named Donna Brucato, Phyllis Howes, Rita Marshall, Jessie Dunn, Claire Jarek, Thomasine Runge, Barbara Ferris, Nancy Lydigsen, Priscilla Watson, Rita White and Sandra Chateauneuf School Crossing Guards for July 1 through June 30, 1983.

And, finally, they appointed a number of Public Weighers for Reichold Chemicals, along with Special Constables for Raytheon, Brock (IRS) and Phillips Academy.

School Board Gives Seifert High Marks

The Andover School Committee has given Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert high marks in a performance evaluation, and Seifert has called this past year "probably the most difficult" in the 13 he has served as the town's top school administrator.

Committee Chairman Richard Neal, in summarizing the feelings of four schoolmen who evaluated the superintendent (Susan Poore did not participate), said Seifert has continued to maintain "high standards" for both himself and the schools.

He said Seifert is energetic, a catalyst for organizational development and visible in the community. Neal added that the superintendent keeps the committee informed and has a good relationshipwith other town officials, cultural, religious and social organizations.

He said Seifert has recently reorganized the school system with as little suffering as possible. He said the committee looks for a continuance of progress in fiscal reporting.

Neal noted that teacher morale has "declined" and listed this among other broad goals for the school system —the pursuit of excellence while facing fiscal reality; and openess with the community and getting them involved.

Seifert said he was proud of his adminstration and staff, especially in light of current financial difficulties. He said credit should be given to the majority of the staff for their energy and positive attitude.

"We have all had a very difficult year," he said.

Poore did not participate in the evaluation process but praised it as an instrument with which to evaluate Seifert.

Steam locomotives may return because of the high cost of oil. The ACE 3000 has a two-stage burning process in which the coal is burned to produce gas; the gas is then burned to heat water. The thermal efficiency is 15 percent as compared to a 20 percent efficiency for diesel locomotives, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

Cablevision Contract Signed; Rollins To Begin Construction

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover is, at last, on the verge of having town-wide cable television service.

The Board of Selectmen Monday night signed a final cable television license with Rollins Cablevision of Atlanta, Georgia, freeing the cable company to begin installing their system in Andover.

According to Rollins, construction will begin within the next two weeks and be completed in ten months. Part of the system will be ready in six months, they added in a statement released Tuesday.

Chairman Norma Gammon noted that board members signed the final license with some relief. The question townspeople most often asked of her during the past year, she said, was, "When is it (cable service) coming?"

Rollins has also signed agreements with Merrimack College to build a television production facility in Merrimack's McQuade Library, and with the Andover School Committee to build a smaller studio at Andover High School. Both studios will be available for public use.

Andover Atty. Richard Asoian, representing Rollins, said Monday that the company's satellite receiving dish will be located at Merrimack College. However, where Rollins' tower will be located is still uncertain: it may be built in North Andover, or at the former landfill site in West Andover.

Town officials joined Rollins officials for a celebration of the final license-signing Tuesday night at the Lanam Club on North Main Street.

According to Rollins' statement, the cable system will cover 153 miles and serve more than 8,000 homes, offering 52 channels, and security, medical and fire alert systems.

As part of the license agreement, the cable company will also provide a link among all municipal buildings, schools, local hospitals and libraries for community programming.

Larry Fitzsimmons of Rollins, who will be in charge of construction, told the selectmen Rollins "will have salespeople knocking on every door" to offer the service to townspeople. "That's the only way we're going to make sales."

Those salespeople will offer residents three basic packages for up to $7.95 per month, plus 13 special channels like Home Box Office (HBO) or Cinemax for additional fees.

The first basic package will include 13 channels for $2.95, offering three news channels, a weather channel, sports channel, health channel, religious channel, and five local access channels.

The second basic package will include 16 more channels for an additional $3.05, offering all Boston stations (Channels 2, 4, 5, 7, 25, 38, 44, 56, 68), a Worcester station and two New Hampshire stations.

And for another $1.95, viewers will be able to purchase eight more channels, including two New York stations, an Atlanta station, a Canadian station, and a children's programming channel. Rollins calls the first 37 channels, totalling $7.95, its "Super Basic" package.

Special programming services like HBO, Showtime or The Movie Channel will cost $10.50 each, or $9.50 if purchased along with the Super Basic package.

The Center for Community Television that Rollins has agreed to build at Merrimack College will include a broadcast studio, an editing center and offices, as well as a three-camera mobile production van for location filming. It will be managed by Tony Fusco of Rollins, who has been named director of community television.

Construction of the studio will begin this summer, and take five months to complete.

Another public-access production facility will be built at Andover High.

The selectmen awarded Rollins a provisional license more than a year ago. The final license had to be signed before construction could begin.

The board chose the Atlanta company over its final competitor, Continential Cablevision of Lawrence, after a drawn-out and sometimes bitter battle for Andover's 15-year cable franchise

What Is An Old Fashioned Fourth?

Getting Ready

Jeremy and Jill Anderson, children of Peter and Patty Anderson, 18 Enmore St., check out a unicycle to be used in this year's Fourth of July Horribles Parade. The Parade will assemble at East Junior High at 12:00 noon and begin at 12:30.

By Peter J. Anderson

(This is the first in a series of three articles about this year's Fourth of July celebration.)

In April some members of South church and other members of the community began to develop a program to celebrate the Fourth of July in Andover. Since that time, a committee has been formed (the Committee for Patriotic Observances, Inc.) and several meetings have been held. Early in the planning the committee agreed to continue the theme of recent celebrations, the "Old Fashioned Fourth." However, none of the people on the committee, nor any citiens who were approached, knew what constituted an "Old Fashioned Fourth." The committee then turned to newspaper accounts of Independence Day celebrations of 90 and 100 years ago.

First, every account of the celebration listed in the papers of that period (1880-1900) broke the town into distinct geographic areas—Ballardvale, Frye Circle, the Hill, Abbot, etc. Quite simply, the celebration occurred throughout town, but without the unity we now know. The center of town and Ballardvale were the most active.

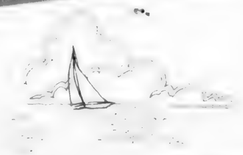

If one believes the accounts of events of the Fourth before the turn of the century, then one must accept that the celebration was something less than rousing. "The Fourth of July was the quietest for some time. The town was really deserted during the day. (1899)." "At midnight (July 3) the annual bonfire was litin the square, but other than this, things were remarkably quiet until the ringing of the bells in the morning (1891)." "The Fourth passed off in

Do We Provide Too Much?

Shown here is a section of Andover's new playfields for which taxpayers provided hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The project has been underway for some time, after Andover voters said yes, we should have some decent playfields for our school and recreation programs and agreed to fund it through the multi-million-dollar school building program.

There was a bonus involved this year. While the spring weather has been less than pleasant for most, it has been more than beneficial to the particular playfield rebuilding project, the heavy rains providing good initial growth.

But all of that is marred by the destructiveness of vandals who have ripped up the lawns, as shown here in one section. Another section further over is also filled with new sod which was necessary after cars ran over the hill near the high school and tore up another section.

Such activity prompts the question of whether or not the taxpayers of Andover, or any other community, do too much to provide educational and recreational opportunities for the young people of the town?

Is this the type of appreciation which is shown?

Initial reaction would be to look upon the effort as a rather poor investment.

But, being a little more optimistic, it is better to think that the majority of today's young people are exemplified by the concern expressed by a West Junior High student in today's 'Public Forum' who deplored the action. The letter was signed but name withheld in order to prevent her family's lawn from being torn up by those who performed the destruction shown above. Vandals display that mentality.

It remains unfortunate that those who care often suffer from the actions of those who could care less.

The Public Forum

Don't Want 'Warring Camps'

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The traditional program was initially formed out of a deep concern for what was believed to be a very necessary mode of education. The Traditional Program Advisory Council was formed by concerned parents as an advocate and spokesman for the traditional program. As such, we have always had the best interests of our children in mind and will continue to do so. We are not saying that one form of education is better than another. We are simply stating that we feel very proud of the level of achievement that our program has reached and feel disheartened that the efforts of our dedicated staff may have been in vain. if the program is arbitrarily eliminated.

We are for "consistency of services." We do not want "warring camps." All we ask is our right to exist. We feel that its eminent threat of cancellation has hurt our enrollment. That is why we look forward to the formation of the committee to research the elementary situation in Andover. We are confident that the worth of the traditional program will be realized and its future existence will be assured.

The description of the traditional program read at the school committee meeting on May 25, 1982, was not merely an interpretation. The contents were based on program evaluations, administrative reports and teacher comments.

We in no way want to mislead or provide false information. We are simply stating actual differences that do exist between the traditional and contemporary programs about which we hope can operate side by side in the future in peace and harmony.

One day we may come to find the "ultimate" form of elementary education which is best for ALL students. Until that day, we can at least be assured that although our methods are different, our goals are the same.

Vandalism Isn't 'Cool'

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Recently our school witnessed the rebirth of our playing fields. In little more than two weeks, we watched a muddy area transform into a luscious green carpet right before our very eyes. And as we watched the workers grade the land, spread rich new topsoil and unroll miles of sod, we felt a sense of pride in our school. Name one school (besides ours, of course) that has fields looking like that. It's pretty tough, because few towns care enough to put their schools' playing fields as a top priority. This should be a source of pride in everyone, because "it's your town, and your town is what you make of it."

However, another recent occurrence related to this happy one isn't so happy. A few individuals decided it would be a funny joke to play on the town to drive their cars on the sod and dig up hundreds of dollars of pride. And it was a joke on the town, but the town includes them, too, so in essence, the joke was on them.

Why would they do it? Did they want people to say, "Hey, they're cool. They dug up the fields, so they're cool."? Those individuals couldn't have too much confidence or pride in themselves to do a thing like that. It's a shame that someone would be that desperate to crush a whole town's sense of pride in an effort to get attention. That's selfishness, and it wasn't selfishness that made our school or this town what it is today.

I think that the town should take swift, precise, immediate action to make an example of these individuals to everyone. Vandalis is not cool.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Reagan military buildup would cause industry snags

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- President Reagan's call for a massive military buildup is creating problems for both the defense industry and the taxpaying public.

The Commerce Department, for example, has completed an in-depth study of the economic effects of increased defense spending. The report was completed last December, but it still hasn't been released. The reason: According to Capitol Hill sources, the study identifies at least 20 defense industries that will suffer severe production bottlenecks because of the military buildup.

Word of the report has incensed Pentagon officials, so the brass hats are pressuring the Commerce Department to delay and alter the report.

Commerce officials deny that this is the reason for not releasing the study.

The taxpayers are losing, meanwhile, because many billions of the dollars they are asked to cough up get lost in the Pentagon's boondoggle bureau.

Take the case of the Maverick missile -- a $4.7 billion lemon.

The Maverick is an airborne anti-tank weapon that never should have left the drawing board. Its guidance system doesn't work very well. Even worse, delivering the missile exposes pilots to extreme danger.

In order to zero in on an enemy tank, a pilot must fly over the battlefield for 15 seconds in a straight, predictable line. That makes him an easy target for enemy guns.

The Maverick also has trouble identifying enemy tanks and is as likely to hit an American tank as it is to hit one of the foe's. And once it has located the right tank, it has trouble locking onto the target.

FALKLAND UPDATE: Five years ago, Argentina formed a secret alliance with three other countries, called the South Atlantic Treaty Organization. The members of this select group, according to intelligence sources, are Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and South Africa. It is Argentina's connection with South Africa that has U.S. intelligence analysts worried. They fear the South Africans will succumb to pressure from the Argentines to sell them French-built Exocet missiles. These are the same missiles that destroyed two British ships, the Sheffield and the Coventry.

-- Intelligence analysts believe the Kremlin is playing a simulated computer war game against the actual moves of the British fleet in the Falklands. The same game is routinely played against U.S. forces around the globe. The computer, states a top-secret report, gives the Soviets the "opportunity to practice simulated strikes against U.S. units."

DOWN ON DONOVAN: Charges continue to mount that Labor Secretary Ray Donovan has had ties to organized-crime figures, and labor-union officials and politicians have begun to call for his resignation.

Inside the White House, one of President Reagan's closest aides has been urging the president for months to let Donovan go. Even before Donovan was confirmed by the Senate 18 months ago, the presidential adviser warned Reagan that his labor secretary-designate could be in trouble.

Just days before Donovan's confirmation, the aide learned that the FBI had taped conversations with suspected mobsters who allegedly mentioned Donovan's name in suspicious contexts. Since then, say our sources, the presidential aide has been trying to distance the White House from the quick-tempered labor secretary.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Defense Department auditors have started an aggressive program to weed out corporate cheaters. Our sources say a close look into just four defense contracts has uncovered nearly $40 million in overcharges. Pentagon officials say the money will be repaid to the government.

-- The Panama Canal Treaty didn't just return control of the waterway to the Panamanians -- it also gave Washington bureaucrats another excuse to take junkets. Seventeen officials from various agencies went to sunny Panama last March to discuss "policy issues." Some of the wives traveled along, at the taxpayers' expense, to join in activities hosted by the Panamanians.

-- A recent Agriculture Department investigation disclosed that some community agencies are double-billing the government for federal programs. One group milked Uncle Sam for $150,000 for a program that had already been paid for. At the same time, the organization had $70,000 of unused government funds in its bank account. The report recommends that the Agriculture Department take the trouble to double-check the bills.

WHAT'S NEXT: Whatever happens in the Falkland Islands crisis, Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri will be ousted as president of Argentina. His replacement will be Lami Dozo, chief of the air force ... Look for Congress to create a government-funded Arthritis Institute to fight the nation's No. 1 crippler.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

The kitchen tends to be the focal point for most families and how you decorate your kitchen will reflect your own sense of secuity, friendliness and welcomeness. We're WINDSOR KITCHENS and we invite you to stop in and see our brand new showroom at 1181 Boston Rd. in Ward Hill. We're here Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. 9-8; Sat. 9-5, eves by appointment or you may phone 372-3444. The effort we put into the design is proudly shown in the finished work. And to all dads: Happy Father's Day.

The choice of color in a kitchen is important. Consider the amount of time spent in this particular part of the house and its effect on your feelings. Timeless color choices were not always a part of kitchen decoration. Sixty years ago a kitchen was almost always painted in a shade of white so as to reflect light and suggest cleanliness. The blue of Agate ware, dark blue utensils with white speckles, was considered to be the kitchen color. Slowly, different colors found their way into the kitchen including sandalwood in the 50s and avocado in the 70s. Today, good artificial lighting allows personal preferences to prevail.

HANDY HINT:

Improved kitchen lighting also eliminates the need for white ceilings.

Braves First Half Victors

By Dan Grams

The National League Braves cinched a spot for the upcoming Little League playoffs with an 11-1 drubbing of their archrivals, the Cardinals. The win gave the Braves sole possession in the first half of the Little League season.

Elsewhere, the Pirates made a complete turn-around, jumping to the top of the league with a 3-0 second half ledger.

Giants 14 - Cubs 10

The Giants broke open a tight ballgame with an eight-run explosion in the top of the fourth inning as the Giants beat the Cubs 14-10. Control problems coupled with Cub mistakes proved to be the deciding factor for them (3-7).

Mark Russell, John Russell and Brian Pace all experienced control problems, combining to walk 10 Giant batters while allowing seven hits. Mark Russell was the losing pitcher.

Jamie O'Hara was the big hitter for the Giants with two hits, driving in three runs.

Jim Hendry led Cub hitters with three safeties, while Brett Duggan and Brian Page had a pair of hits

Braves 11 - Cards 1

The Braves enjoyed big third and fourth innings enroute to an impressive 11-1 win over the Cardinals. The win gave the Braves the first half championship.

Glenn Allard once again proved to be the deciding factor silencing the Cardinal bats on a four-hitter while striking out 12.

Steve Mencis and Steve Napoliatano had a pair of hits to pace the Brave hitters. Joshua Yeserski had a two-run double.

Steve Surrette and Steve Donovan stood out for the Cards.

Mets 9 - Cubs 6

The Mets scored all they would need over the first two stanzas coasting to a 9-6 victory over the Cubs.

Red Sox 17 - White Sox 4

The Red Sox exploded for five runs in the bottom of the first and never looked back enroute to a 17-4 win over the White Sox. They scored three more in the second, six in the third and closed out with three in the fourth to account for 17 runs on 18 hits.

Three Red Sox hurlers, Steve DeVoir, David Milne and Kevin Foley, limited the White Sox to four runs on four hits, two singles by Jeff Brodie and single hits each by Mark Duncan and Chris Kew. They combined to strike out ten and walk eight.

The Red Sox had seven players with two hits or more. Foley and Greg DeVoir had three each with DeVoirs' second homerun of the season the game's big blow. Danny Fay, John Slavin, Steve DeVoir, Michael Manning and Matt Gibson each added two hits to the barrage. Pitcher Steve DeVoir and shortstop Matt Gibson, switch hitting for the first time this season, both accounted for three runs each with bases-loaded doubles.

Centerfielder Jeff Brodie robbed Gibson of his third hit with an outstanding grab in center and Chris Eggert did likewise to second baseman Fay for the two outstanding fielding plays of the game, both turned in by the White Sox.

Orioles 18 - White Sox 3

The Orioles and White Sox played scoreless baseball for two innings until the Orioles erupted for seven runs in the third and dded eight more in the fourth.

The run-producing base hits in the third were delivered by Allan Reeded (triple), Chris Concemi (double), Geoff Wood and Johnny Gilmartin. Chris Nelson blasted a long run scoring sacrifice fly to deep right to cap the inning.

In the fourth, consecutive base hits by Concemi, Wood, Pat Kelley, Eric Hammond, a pair of walks and additional hits by Nelson and Kevin Henderson accounted for the eight runs.

The White Sox standouts were Derek Holmes, with a base hit, Chris Eggert, the hardluck southpaw pitcher, and Andy Peck, who made some fine plays at shortstop.

The Orioles' Concemi and Wood each had three hits and Henderson and Kelley, a pair. Hugh Maginnis pitched no hit ball in his three-inning stint for the win with Kelley pitching effectively the rest of the way.

Defensive standouts were Kevin Newman of the Sox with a fine catch in center and Mike Smith and Craig Knight (seven putouts) of the Orioles at second and catcher.

Yankees 8 - Orioles 5

The Yankees beat the Orioles behind the combined pitching of Pat Breen (five innings) and Josh Malitsky (one inning).

The Orioles jumped to an early 4-0 lead in the first two innings. In the first Chris Nelson singled and scored when Kevin Henderson reached on an error. Alan Reeder then singled in Henderson. In the second inning, Henderson and Reeder reached on errors and Chris Concemi had the key hit.

The Yankees came back to score two in the second inning and five in the third inning to win the game. Paul Davies walked, Josh Malitsky singled, Davies scored on Mike Giammasi's ground out, and Malitsky scored on Joey Tavilla's sacrifice bunt in the second inning. In the third, Tom Tormey walked, Tim Smith singled, Paul Davies had a RBI single, Malitsky signed in wo runs, Giammasi walked, Tavilla singled in a run and John Davies' infielder grounder brought in another run. Malitsky led the Yankee attack with wo hits, while Tom Tormey (double), Tim Smith, Paul Davies, Tavilla and John Davies (double) contributed hits.

Chris Concemi and Hugh Maginnis had two hits each, while Nelson, Alan Reeder and Jeff Wood had timely hits for the Orioles. Defensively, Pat Kelly made the play of the game with a circus catch of a long flyball in rightfield. Tim Smith, Yankee catcher, made several key plays in crucial situations.

Red Sox 10 - Yankees 8

The Red Sox managed to hang on to the lead in one of the sloppiest games either team has played this year to edge the Yankees 10-8. The Red Sox jumped into the lead in the first on the strength of Kevin Foley's

Bulldogs Remain Undefeated

Jeff Fowley scored two goals to lead the Bulldogs over the Retrievers 3-0 last Saturday at the high school field hockey field.

Mark Schwetz scored the other Bulldog goal.

The first quarter saw Retriever halfbacks Collin Nix, Mike Costello, Dave Driben and forward Adam Tenofsky keep the ball downfield. But Fowley kicked one past Retriever goalie Jeff Mornault to make the score 1-0.

The second quarter was a scoreless defensive match. Driber played goalie for the Retrievers. Costello and Nix, playing forward, showed superb team work. Two kicks by fullback Tenofsky, going deep into midfield, prevented Bulldog goals.

Schwetz scored against Kevin Murphy to put the Bulldogs up by two in the third quarter. Peter Arthur and Bobby Lee played well.

Fowley rounded out the scoring with a goal in the fourth quarter, keeping the Bulldogs undefeated.

Little League

single and a long double to center by Matt Gibson. They Yanks came back in the bottom of the first with one of their own with Pat Breen's first of three doubles.

The Sox went ahead to stay as they sent 10 men to the plate and pushed across seven runs in the top of the second. Steve DeVoir led off with a double and scored on Andy Weiner's single to left. David Milne walked, Chuck Farr was hit by a pitch and Matt Gibson walked. Greg DeVoir singled home a run and Michael Manning cleared the bases and scored himself as the Yankees threw the ball around for three errors on the one play.

The Yankees, however, continued to peck away at the Red Sox lead with two in their half of the second and two more in the third. The Red Sox put it away in the fourth as Gibson singled, Greg DeVoir walked and Manning singled them both home. The Yankees once more made things close with three in their half of the fourth with a Breen double and Tom Tormey's single the key hits.

Shortstop Gibson, centerfielder Foley and catcher Manning paced the Sox hitting attack with two hits each. Breen's three doubles and wo hits each by Tormey and Paul Davies paced the Yankees.

Greg and Steve DeVoir shared the mound duties for the Sox with the latter picking up the win. They combined to allow seven hits, struck out eight and walked seven. Josh Malitsky and Tormey shared pitching duties for the Yanks, allowing nine hits, striking out eight and walking eight. Givson handled four tough chances flawlessly at shortstop for the Sox to garner defensive honors for the game.

Braves

Met ace Andy 'Whizzer' Shea was the winning pitcher with relief help from Peter Trede.

Brian Page was the losing pitcher for the Cubs, with John Russell finishing up.

The Cubs made a go of it with a six-run up. John Russell keyed the come-back attempt with his second homer of the season.

Russell, Jim Hendry and Mark Russell each had two hits in a losing effort for the Cubs.

Braves 13 - Cubs 2

The Braves scored in every inning, easily handling the Cubs 13-2.

Glen Driscoll was the complete game winner for the Braves tossing a six-hitter. He struck out seven while surrendering two walks.

Glen Allard continued to feast on Cub pitching, belting his fourth home run in two games against Cub hurlers.

Steve Napoliatano, Allard, Driscoll, Steve Mencis and Tim Plaehn were the Braves' hitters.

Two of Andover's finest female athletes will meet for the first time on Friday evening at the Dunn Gymnasium. Kathy Hayden Karlson, Class of 1963, and Ellen Childs, Class of 1974, have never met each other. However, they have much in common.

First, they were both great all-around athletes for Andover. Second, they competed in three sports, and third, they played for their respective colleges — Kathy in field hockey and lacrosse, and Ellen in gymnastics.

Tickets for Friday night's Hall of Fame dinner/award ceremony can be purchased at Andover High by calling Bill Igoe, ext. 320 or Dick Swift at the Shawsheen School, ext. 279.

With a time of 24:00, Dale Edmands, 123 Salem St., Andover, finished third in the Men's 30-39 Division at the fourth Annual Celebrity Love Run held recently by the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). He was one of more than 400 runners who joined local television, radio and sportspersonalitis in the run around the Esplanade.

For the second year in a row the celebrity winner was Shane Hollett, meterologist at WNET-TV Channel 7. WBZ's Dick Flavin was second and Dan Rae, also of BZ, placed third. Prizes, donated by new Balance Shoes and McDonald's Restaurants, were awarded to men and women in six age categories.

The four-mile race was the kick-off to America's Love Run—a month long promotion where runners and joggers of all ages and abilities will run in their leisure time to benefit MDA. They will raise money by asking friends to sponsor them for the miles they run.

It's not too late to sign up for America's Love Run. Pick up applications at participating McDonald's Restaurants.

Some 168 million acres of commercial timberland represent about 35 percent of the nation's timberlands that have high potential for industrial timber growth and harvesting. Experts from the U.S. Forest Service estimate that proper management of this potential would increase our net arnual timber growth in a major way and it can be done profitably.

The South's forest land has the highest average potential for timber production of any section of the country. Over three quarters of its forests are capable of producing commercial quantities of wood.

In 1976, about 45 percent of America's softwood supplies came from the South. The U.S. Forest Service predicts, however, that by the year 2030, the South could supply more than 50 percent of our timber, because of its exceptional tree-growing conditions.

Imagine an area twice the size of California covered with trees. That's about the size of the forest in America's South: the area from Virginia and Kentucky along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast west to Texas and Oklahoma.

Only about eight percent of all that forest land belongs tothe federal government. Some of it belongs to the states, and the rest is in private hands. About four-fifths belongs to farmers and other private owners, and forest industry owns some.

The MGB, one of the world's legendary sports cars, is out of production. When these brand new 1980 models are gone, they're gone forever. And, fun and nostalgia aside, it all adds up to a contemporary classic that could be tomorrow's collector's item. MG TCs of the late 1940s, in good condition, currently sell for from two to eight times original cost. Early MGBs in top condition now sell for as much or more than their original price. Committees Could Cause Rather Than Solve Problems

The Andover School Committee's idea of how to get community involvment in school affairs — in particular elementary education — leads some to believe more problems might be created than solved.

And the citizen-teacher committee structure discussed Tuesday night could become a vehicle for parents to wage the traditional vs. contemporary program battle.

No vote was taken, and nothing is sure, except that: Two types of committees — one, a main or steering committee, and two, several grass roots committees representing each elementary school, will probably be formed. The committees will consist of teachers and parents with voting privileges, and school adminstrators as non-voting resource people.

The steering committee would develop a uniform set of questions to be addressed within each school by the grass roots committees (The questions would first be approved by the school committee).

Out of this would come a recommendation for an elementary structure and curriculum guidelines that would provide for:

- Meeting the variety of needs of students;
- Consistency of service throughout the system;
- Delivering quality instruction within budgetary confines.

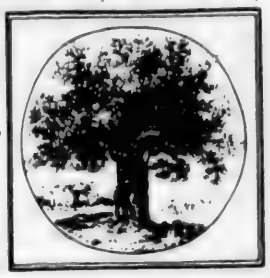

Then would come a plan, to be presented to the school committee for consideration, for implementing the recommendations in each elementary school. Possibly school adminstrators would get involved in this before plans reach the school committee.

School Committee Chairman Richard Neal said the purpose of providing such a committee structure of community involvment is to be able to look at the service provided to all studentsand to make sure all students are getting what they need. He said some need more and some less of a structured environment.

Neal said the purpose was "not totally" to evaluate the traditional vs. the contemporary program.

But the issue was raised Tuesday night.

One citizen, Joseph Howard, maintained the traditional program would not be adequately represented in the proposed committee structure.

Steve Jankauskus, president of the Andover Education Association, said, "I would support the idea of having the fifth school (traditional program) represented. I would hope this (committee structure) is not going to be an effort to pit one group against another."

Schoolman Susan Poore agreed that the traditional program could be allowed to be the fifth school, but that traditional vs. contemporary should not be the focus of the committees.

Schoolman Donald Robb said that issue should not undermine the whole effort. He said there is just one West School. Neal said he had no problem with a committee for the traditional program. Committeemen Michael Giammusso and Robert Smith suggested that the West School committee could be made larger than the other grass roots committees.

Elsie Woo maintained that the group called "Concerned Parents" does not challenge the traditional program. "If it (traditional program) is viable...it will stand up to such scrutiny," she said.

Faith O'Brien said about the proposed committees, "I can't understand what your purpose is."

Moe Blais added that he didn't think the proposal would work.

Questions most discussed by school committee members included:

How many parents vs. teachers should be on the committee, since the numbers could decide which group could control the vote?

Should administratorsbe allowed to vote or simply serve as advisors?

How to choose which parents and teachers will serve on the committees?

"I hope we're not establishing a legislative body," said Schoolman Michael Giammusso. "We (the school committee) have the ultimate responsibility" as to what decisions are made regarding elementary education.

Giammusso warned not to put too much emphasis on parent and teacher committee voting.He said if the school committee receives a report which it totally disagreeswith, that turning it downmight be "antagonizing" the teacher-parent committees.

He also said that an 8-7 vote, for example, of a parent-teacher committee does not necessarily meanthe school committee will go along with whatever plan is given them.

Neal suggested a letter be sent home with students informing their parents that they should indicateby July 1 if they are interested in serving on any of the proposed committees.

He said both the steering committee and grass roots committees should be appointedby July 14. The plans could be re-worked and possibly finalized by then.

The school committee is hoping the steering committee questions could be ready for grass roots committee consideration in September, and that recommendations could be before the school committee in December

AUDI: THE ART OF ENGINEERING

Messy Problems Stem From Pole Hill Construction

Construction on Pole Hill has created messy problems for some of the hill's Ballardvale neighbors, those neighbors say, and Monday night they turned to the selectmen for help.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony told them the town is already taking steps to solve their problems, but promised no "quick solution."

Developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. is building a 14-lot subdivision on the hill. Until recently, he had planned to build 69 homes there.

However, after months of negotiations, Kalogianis agreed to swap most of the hill for the town's "tea lots" off Woburn Street. The town will preserve Pole Hill as permanent open space, and the developer will build 30 homes on the tea lots.

Despite an agreement specifying that the developer will take steps to prevent water and erosion problems on the hill during construction, "massive erosion has already occurred and will continue to occur with each successive rainfall," the Ballardvale residents wrote in a petition to the selectmen.

The petition was signed by Arnold and Sherron Heller, George and Carol Madden, John Sweeney, and Don and Charlotte Tyning.

Reading the petition aloud Monday night at Town Hall, Charlotte Tyning said there are gullies up to three feet deep along Pole Hill Drive (under construction), sink holes up to ten feet wide, and eroded silt and clay up to a foot deep obliterating parts of a public access known as the cart path.

Changes in the water table caused by the loss of trees that have been cut down — along with recent rainfall — has created a "pond" on the Madden property, and has turned a meadow on the Sweeney property into a marsh, Mrs. Tyning claimed.

The residents asked that the selectmen consider releasing a portion of the builder's bond to pay for remedies to those problems, along with preventive measures to stop future problems.

The town manager told them there was "nothing on this (petition) that we're not aware of, and we are acting to correct (the problems)."

Town officials are "in the process" of correcting the problems, but it is a slow process, he said. "There is not a quick solution.

"It will be taken care of," Mahony said. "As a last resort, his bond will be pulled, if it comes to that."

He said he did not have a time frame for clearing up the problems.

The manager added that "the rather unusual climate we're having this spring" has aggravated problems that residents say began up to four months ago. "That is not all the fault of the developer."

The Planning Board and town engineers are monitoring the development, Mahony said, and town staffers have been "spending a lot of time over there."

Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon promised town officials would "watch it, and we will continue to make sure the thing is cleared up."

Later in their meeting, the selectmen voted unanimously to amend the deed to the tea lots, to clear the title for the land exchange with Kalogianis.

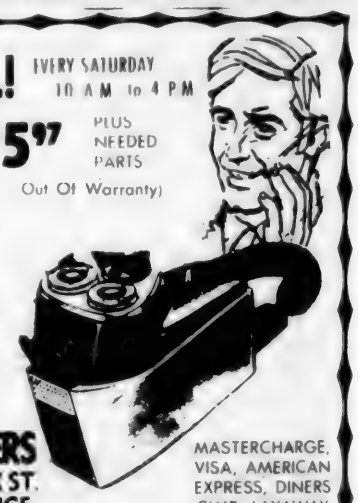

The land was taken by eminent domain in 1973 to be used as the site of a fire station, but the deed said only that it was taken "for municipal purposes." The board amended the deed to make it clear that the tea lots had been taken for use as a fire station site.

Personnel Get Raise

The school committee Tuesday night approved a food services contract which provides a seven percent salary increase for cafeteria personnel.

The contract, which extends from July 1, 1982 through June 30, 1984, also provides for a uniform allowance of $20-$30 per year, according to Schools Superintendent Kenneth Seifert. He said personnel will be allowed two weeks vacation pay after 10 years of service.

Seifert noted that cafeteria funds are self-contained and must be made up within the food budget.

insurance company two mortgages on the property. The company plans to sell the mortgages, and will accept written bids until 2 p.m. Monday, June 28 at the offices of its attorneys: Lecomte, Shea, Dangora & Barber, One Boston Place, Boston.

Lumbermens purchased the first mortgage with a $22,600 payment in December, 1975, and the second mortgage, with an $8,-294 payment in October, 1975.

In a letter to Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore this week, Lumbermens' attorney Francis Gallagher, Jr., wrote that the Stempels have made no payments since the assignments.

And the appeals period on the court ruling in Lumbermens' favor has run out.

No taxes were paid on the property for some years, and it was allowed to deteriorate; the house remains boarded up, and the yard is overgrown. Neighbors have complained to town officials that the property is a nuisance, detracting from their neighborhood and attracting vandals.

Samuel Ciraldi of 2 Wild Rose Drive and Grace Hatch of 116 Wild Rose Drive petitioned the Community Development and Planning department to take some action in March. They said the house is a health and potential fire hazard.

Monday night, the Board of Health declared the house unfit for human habitation. That decision begins a one-year process that could lead to the razing of the property — unless it is sold and restored before then.

Lumbermens' effort to sell the property is "a step in the right direction," Gilmore said. "We have been trying to provoke a private decision." Neighbors "tried to get the town to solve it for them, but it really is a private nuisance matter."

He added, however, that the town "tried to put some pressure" on the parties involved to clear up the ownership question.

The town threatened to take the insurance company to court unless Lumbermens made a tax payment, for example. But when the company paid taxes on the house, they emphasized that they were not claiming title to the property, but only protecting their interests, Gilmore explained.

He added that there is still "no clear title" to the property, since a number of the Stempels' creditors hold liens on the property.

Rollins

The selectmen approved the final license with a four-zero vote; Selectman William Dalton, who represented Continental during the licensing battle, abstained.

In addition to Andover, Rollins has been awarded Massachusetts licenses in Dracut, Danvers, North Reading, Plainville, Somerset, Swansea, Norton, Franklin and Millis. The company also operates cable systems in Connecticut and Delaware, and is building two systems in Rhode Island.

Library Art Exhibits

The oil and watercolor paintings of Robert Giggi of Merrimack, N.H., are on display at Memorial Hall Library for the month of June. A prolific and successful painter, Giggi specializes in landscapes and farm scenes of southern New Hampshire.

Another colorful display in the main reading room features the stained glass of Ann and Ted Traver of Andover. Acclaimed for their creation of the window at Ballardvale's St. Joseph's Church, the Travers have designed other windows for clients as far away as England and France. Samples of their work and photographs of completed projects are included in the display.

Speedreading Courses This Summer

Registrations for Sanborn Associates' popular Speedreading Courses are being taken at the Circulation Desk at Memorial Hall Library. Two sessions will be held this summer, one Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. starting July 6; the other Wednesday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. starting July 7. While both classes are open to adults, high school and college students, the daytime class is designed mainly for students.

Budget Details Approved

The school committee this week officially approved final details of its 1982-83 $12.9 million bottom-line budget as voted by town meeting — and 11 positions on tap for elimination have been added back to the school department.

This has come as a result of a $300,000 surplus in the 1981-82 budget, which was used to pre-purchase supplies and equipment, and a reductionin business office and teacher supplies.

The following positions are back:

A LIBRARIAN at Andover High School;

A CHEMISTRY TEACHER (full time) at the high school;

A BIOLOGY TEACHER (half time) at the high school;

A MATH TEACHER (half time) at the high school;

A PRIMARY LEVEL TEACHER at the West Elementary School;

AN INTERMEDIATE LEVEL TEACHER at the Sanborn School;

A TEACHER of the perceptually handicapped (federally funded);

READING PROGRAM ADVISOR (The creation of this position indirectly allowed the retention of an English teacher, who would have been "bumped.");

A MUSIC TEACHER, a position to be funded with user fee money;

A PERSONNEL/BUSINESS OFFICE SECRETARY;

AN INDUSTRIAL ARTS TEACHER.

The industrial arts teacher who would have been let go would have been the only person qualified to offer the graphic arts program at Andover High — so that program would have in effect been eliminated.

Another top priority of the school committee — reinstating a junior high guidance couselor — has been put on the back burner for now.

The school committee transferred on June 1 a $45,000 surplus in the teaching account to the expense account to bring the total surplus there to over $300,000.

The $300,000 surplus can be broken down roughly this way:

$190,000 — Balance in the fuel oil/utilities account due to energy conservation and lower fuel prices;

$83,000 — Savings in gasoline reduction (transportation account);

$21,000 — Salary outages: savings realized when personnel are hired at a lower salary than those who they replaced;

$20,000 — Savings from a computer position not filled.

The money was used for pre-purchasing supplies and equipment and implementing maintenance projects to free up funds to bring back teachers into the school system.

Other adjustments in the school budget — reduction in business office and teacher supplies — also helped out. For example, the high school principal's supplies were cut by $3,000, according to Business Manager Frank Paul, and the supply account was reduced by $40,000.

He said $20,000 worth of equipment was pre-purchased to reduce that account to zero.

Rivers Calendar

As part of American Rivers Month—June '82, the Massachusetts scenic Rivers Program has released a calendar of events occurring on rivers and streams across the Commonwealth. American Rivers Month is a national effort to increase public awareness of rivers as valuable natural and recreational resources and, where possible, to generate political action to conserve and revitalize them. Governor King has issued a proclamation declaring June as "Massachusetts Rivers Month," and numerous canoe trips, picnics, walks and assorted celebrations are being planned.

As part of its effort to promote the celebration, the Scenic Rivers Program, part of the Department of Environmental Management, has published a calendar which lists events in June by river and provides telephone numbers to call for more information on specific events. It is available by calling or writing Katharine Preston, Coordinator, Massachusetts Scenic Rivers Program, 100 Cambridge St., Boston, MA 02202.

Precautions before completing the purchase of a home include searching public records for matters that could adversely affect your interests as a buyer and those of your mortgage lender. As important as this step is, it does not provide complete assurance that all title hazards have been found.

Director

A former Y.M.C.A. executive, Bob Anthony of Downing Street in Salem, has been appointed the new executive director of the Essex County Tourist Council it was announced by J. Brad Pierce of Gloucester, president of the Tourist Council Board of Directors. The council, which lost its financial support from Essex County in the wake of Prop 2½, has been undergoing a reevaluation of its role and programs this year. "With the hiring of Anthony, the board has a new enthusiasm and spirit," Pierce said, "and a renewed determination to promote tourism, an industry that brings over $100,000,000 a year into Essex County."

Anthony spent 28 years as a Y.M.C.A. director in upstate New York, the last 20 years in Plattsburgh. He moved to the North Shore two years ago to work in the travel business and has been conducting tours for Michaud Tours and Yankee Holidays.

The Tourist Council was organized in 1955 to promote tourism on the North Shore. It maintains an office at the Northshore Shopping Center.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE

A mortgage is the pledge of your home to secure a loan. If you fall behind in your monthly payments, the lender is entitled to foreclose. Quite simply, he can sell your home in order to recover his money, though in most states you have the right to reacquire your foreclosed property by paying the mortgage and covering the foreclosure costs.

If the home is sold under foreclosure, you would get any cash left over after the loan is paid. (The court will oversee the transaction to protect your rights.)

Fortunately, foreclosures on family homes don't happen often these days, even during financial crunches. Most lenders prefer to work out some arrangement with you rather than foreclose. Your best protection is to keep up mortgage payments. But if you get into a jam, tell the lender right away and see if you can figure out a compromise about payments.

Fourth

a rather quiet manner, there being very little in town to excite one's curiosity (1889)." "Independence Day was quietly observed in town, save the firecrackers of the small boy and his disgusting fish horn (1887)." If nothing else, apparently an 'Old Fashioned Fourth" was quiet.

Aside from noise, the other major concerns reported by the press were vandalism and personal injury. Almost every account makes reference to a traditional bonfire in Elm Square at midnight before the Fourth. However, the reports also chronicle small fires in other parts of town—all of which were unauthorized, and all of which usually involved someone's barn. Similarly, the reports detail numerous reported injuries resulting from firecrackers.

What did happen on the Fourth of July in Andover 100 years ago? As alluded to above, a bonfire was held at midnight to usher in the holiday, and it was held in Elm Square. The morning of the Fourth was marked by a patriotic ceremony at dawn. The ceremony, which indluded firing a cannon and ringing bells, was repeated at other times during the day.

Later in the day, but usually still at an early hour, the Antique and Horribles Parade was held. actually, there seem to have been two—one in the center of town and one which drew large crowds in Ballardvale. Sometimes there was a trade parade in which local citizens, merchants, etc., drove their wagons, carts, carriages, etc. Races were held—three-legged, sack, obstacle, dashes—and at least one baseball game was played. Teams were formed from various sections of town or were sponsored by some of the rival merchants.

Haggett's Pond drew crowds of people. The newspapers report that many of the local citizens spent the day picnicking and swimming at what is now the Andover water supply. Others went to the parade in Lawrence, and in one year many went to Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show.

The day was concluded with a band concert and with fireworks. However, the fireworks were not always sponsored by the town. Many references are made to fireworks being stagd in privae yards throughout the town for the enjoyment of those particular citizens.

A last interesting note. The Andover Advertiser, the paper from which much of this information was drawn, was published on Fridays. In one year the paper reported that the stores were open and that the school committee held its regularly scheduled meeting on the Fourth of July. Apparently, the holiday was not held in as much reverence as we would like to believe. Thus, in spite of our persistent belief that "things were better in the old days," it doesn't seem that this was always the case with the Fourth of July.

Parents To Pay For Damage

A 20-year-old will be summonsed to court and his parents have agreed to pay for damage to the new playfields at West Junior High school.

The youth was apprehended along with three others last Thursday night after his car got stuck on the field which has just been reconstructed.

According to Andover police, the youth was out riding with two other young men about the same age and a juvenile, when he decided to go onto the fields entering near the rock in front of the senior high schools. Police said the others were apparently unaware the driver intended to take the action. Found in the car were a cooler of beer and a 'Keep Off The Grass' sign from the field reconstruction site.

Some boards had been placed in an effort to free the car, but to no avail and the vehicle had to be towed.

About 1,000 square feet of turf was ripped up amounting to an estimated $800 in damage.

The youth will be summonsed to court later this month.

Police are continuing their investigation into the ripping up of a section of turf on another portion of the playfields which has also been resodded.

Fund Study Committee Appointed

A committee to study the 58-42 split of town funds will include Ruth Dunbar, Frederick Fitzgerald and Edward Kulcsar, from the finance committee, and Selectman Donn Byrne and Schoolman Donald Robb.

Robb said the purpose of the committee will not only address how town funds should be allocated between general government and the school department, but will also focus upon a "long range"
